LANDS IN WRONG JAIL.

Anniston, Ala., Jan. 30.—It is not often that a man pays a fine to get out of one jail so that he may get into another. Such was the case of "Mack" Perkins, who came from Cleburne County to serve a sentence in the county jail on an illicit distilling charge.
On his way to the jail he is said to have imbibed a little too frequently and went to the city jail instead of the county jail. He was arrested on a charge of being intoxicated. Then, fearing he would get into further trouble by not reporting to the county warden, he sent for Deputy Marshal Blake, who arranged for his transfer by paying the City Court fine of $5 and costs.

TO TEACH FOREIGNERS HOW TO SPEAK ENGLISH

Education Bureau Plans "Big Push"
Toward Language Schools.

One big drive in America in 1917—mostly on the eastern front—is going to send 3,000,000 foreign-speaking workmen into the trenches, figuratively: into English language schools literally.

There are roughly 3,000,000 adult foreigners in the United States who cannot speak English, and they are not anxious to learn.

It has been up to Philander Claxton, United States Commissioner of Education, to see that these foreigners are Americanized.

In 1915 and 1916 Commissioner Claxton established many schools to teach English to foreigners, and induced large industrial establishments to start schools.

The attendance was negligible.

Now he has determined upon a big effort to literally drive them into the schools, and the plan is going to be hatched in Washington this week during the convention of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Practically all of the 3,000,000 foreigners are employed in large industrial establishments.

Practically all of the large establishments in the country have notified Commissioner Claxton, by letter, that they are willing to establish English schools in their plants and make the schooling compulsory, just as soon as Commissioner Claxton outlines a plan.

Representatives of most of these industrial combinations will be in Washington this week, at the convention, and just as soon as it closes Commissioner Claxton will open an "Americanization" convention in the Willard. He has persuaded most of these men to remain over for his convention and help him work out plans for this big educational scheme.

The Packard automobile plant and the Ford plant started some months ago to carry out the commissioner's idea, the schooling being optional in the Packard plant and compulsory in the Ford plant.

The schools will be opened in other plants throughout the country within several months, and will be the most important work ever attempted by the bureau.

FAVOR PASSAGE OF WEBB BILL

Manufacturers' Association Would Combine for Foreign Trade.

Formal action in support of the Webb bill to allow the formation of combinations to engage in foreign trade was taken yesterday by the board of directors of the National Association of Manufacturers at a meeting held at the New Willard Hotel.

It was decided to hold the next annual convention in New York on May 14, 15 and 16, and a second international trade conference in the fall of this year at a date to be determined later.

President Wilson will meet the first substantial rebuff from Congress that he has received since his occupancy of the White House.

The arguments of the President of his disapproval of the Burnett bill are irrefutable," said Representative Gallivan. "This bill was conceived in bigotry, is sustained and nourished by arguments and forces that must be against true Americanism, and encourages a plan that is predicated upon rank injustice."

"I glory in the courage that President Wilson has displayed by his veto," he added.
